Introduction

This is the first publication of the "List of Construction Projects" and is the result of an expansion in scope from the Department of Business Development and Tourism's previous publication "The List of Industrial Projects". The publication will include not only industrial but commercial, recreational, and institutional facility constructions or expansions. This list of Construction Projects will be published semi-annually by the Department as part of its program to provide information on the level and direction of economic activity in the province.

While every effort has been made to ensure that the listing is as complete and accurate as possible the Department of Business Development and Tourism does not accept responsibility for errors or omissions nor does it wish to convey the impression that the lists represent in any way an official or approved list of projects.

METHODOLOGY

DATA COLLECTION

Most of the basic data for the list was obtained by telephone interviews, but those who had many projects and did not wish to give the information by telephone were sent questionnaires. Original sources of information were compiled from newspaper clippings, magazines such as Oilweek and Canadian Petroleum, the previous investment projects list, provincial and municipal permits and construction associations.

PROJECT CLASSIFICATION

Projects were classified as commercial or industrial by the following guideline:

*Commercial, Recreational and Institutional

Apartments - include senior citizen residences
Row housing
Office and renting space - includes professional buildings
Warehousing
Shopping Centres and retail outlets
Hotels, motels
Recreational facilities - sports arenas, swimming pools, exhibition grounds, ice arenas, curling rinks, and museums
Parks
Education
Health
Government buildings and grounds (federal, provincial, municipal)
Other services - youth centres, centres for handicapped, convention centres, churches, libraries
Municipal engineering water treatment, sewage treatment and pipes, firehalls.
Storage and maintenance

Industrial

Agricultural processing
Forestry
Manufacturing
Mining
Petroleum and Petrochemicals
Utilities
Transportation
Distribution

* Referred to as "commercial" in the text

The following definitions were used as criteria for gathering the data:

Construction Project

a) an expansion of already existing industrial or commercial facilities

b) the construction of new industrial or commercial plants and/or facilities.

Only commercial projects involving a capital expenditure of $500,000 or more were included in the list, and only the industrial projects involving a $100,000 capital expenditure or more were included. Only the design and construction costs were included in the figures for total capital cost.

Status of the project was designated as proposed, under construction, or completed by the following guidelines:

1) Proposed - The project was publicly announced before June 30, 1978 and is not presently being built. Projects under consideration are also included. Some of these projects may be competitive proposals by various companies or they may be delayed or cancelled due to unforeseen circumstances, thus not all projects are likely to go ahead.

2) Under construction - The project was either in the site preparation stage or on-site construction was underway by June 30, 1978.

3) Completed - The project was completed sometime between Jan 1, 1978 and June 30, 1978 and is now in the operations phase.

It should be noted that census division 0 is used where the project location is unknown or extends over more than one census division. Primary examples in this case include pipelines and transmission lines.

MEASUREMENT OF JOBS CREATED

It is important to note that the number of jobs expected to be created by projects in the commercial categories such as office buildings, warehouses and government buildings is very difficult to project. The number of permanent jobs created is primarily dependant on the new tenants of the building. As the company constructing the building is rarely the tenant of the building, they are not in the position to estimate new jobs housed in the project. Due to this measurement problem, job creation comparisons are generally not made throughout the report.

TREATMENT OF CONFIDENTIAL DATA

Confidential data are not included in the publication and caution should be exercised in all comparisons of categories and types of projects.

HIGHLIGHTS

The list of construction projects includes both commercial and industrial construction projects in Alberta during the period January 1, 1978 to June 30, 1978 inclusive. Of the 994 projects listed, 400 projects were proposed during this time, 436 were under construction and 158 came to completion. The total capital expenditure will be $19.4 billion and the total number of jobs to be created is 17,142.

In comparison to the previous six months, the number of industrial projects has increased slightly to 339 but the number of commercial projects has nearly doubled (655). The total expected creation of new jobs has decreased (in the industrial sector) from 12,921 to 10,983. New jobs expected to be created by projects in the commercial sector total 6,159. The total capital expenditures for industrial projects is $17.1 billion, a 16% drop from the previous six month figures.

This drop is seen in the decreased expenditure for forestry, transportation and distribution proportionate to the decrease in the number of projects for these areas.

The total capital expenditure for the commercial sector ($2.36 billion) is double that of the previous period. This is proportionate to the increase in the number of projects since the last six month review.

PROPOSED PROJECTS

The total number of planned investments, (400) has nearly doubled since the last six month review. The increase lies in the tripling of the commercial projects; 257 this year compared to 85 last year. Provincial buildings, warehouses and hotels account for the largest increase. All others in the commercial sector increase by one-third. Petroleum and petrochemical projects (12%), apartments (13%) and utilities (11%) comprise one-third of the total planned investments.

Planned industrial projects increased slightly, but not as significantly as those in the commercial sector. While most planned activities have increased slightly, there is a large increase in agricultural processing and a significant decrease in transportation and distribution.

Total capital expenditure is highest for census divisions 0, 11 and 12 at $1.9 billion, $1.4 billion and $9 billion respectively. The two major activities in C.D. 0 are petroleum and petrochemical investments and utilities; mining and utilities are the major activities in division 11 and petroleum and petrochemical again in C.D. 12.

The total expected job creation decreases substantially for industrial projects overall. A significant drop in jobs to be created occurs in forestry, mining and transportation.

The greatest number of new jobs is expected to be created in census division 12. Petroleum and petrochemical projects will create 64% of all the new jobs to be created. One-third of the new jobs expected to be created will be in census divisions 6 and 11 (1,314 and 935 respectively). In census division 6, they will be created largely by hotels/motels (295) manufacturing (366) and petroleum (200). In census division 11, the majority of new jobs will be created by shopping centres, retail (200), manufacturing (159), mining (285) and utilities (202).

$13.6 billion, the total capital expenditure for proposed projects is a 20% decrease since the last six month review, although the number of planned projects has nearly doubled. The increased expenditure in commercial projects is rather substantial and is proportionately higher than the increase in the number of projects.

PROJECTS UNDER CONSTRUCTION

The total number of projects under construction (436 has increased by one and one-half times that of the previous six month period. Though the number of commercial projects (313) has nearly doubled, the number of industrial projects (123 has increased only slightly. The total capital expenditure ($5.3 billion) has dropped slightly since the last review period from $5.8 billion. The total capital expenditure for industrial projects (4.0 billion) has dropped by 22%. However the expenditure for commercial projects (1.3 billion) has nearly doubled. These increased expenditures for the commercial sector are proportionate to the increase in the number of projects.

Petroleum and petrochemical investments make up 83% of the total capital expenditure in the industrial sector. Apartments, ($175 million) row housing ($99 million) and municipal engineering projects ($110 million) are the major expenditures in the commercial sector.

Census divisions 6 and 11 carry the largest number of projects under construction (135 and 117 respectively). In division 6, apartments (22), row housing (23) and offices (21) form the major areas of activity. Petroleum and petrochemical projects (13), apartments (13), row housing (11) and municipal engineering (11) are the major activities in division 11.

9,109 new permanent jobs are expected to be created by projects under construction (4,447 by commercial investments, and showing an 8% decrease, 4,662 industrial).

Once again petroleum projects are expected to create a little less than half (4,251) of the total number of new permanent jobs. Shopping centres and retail investments are expected to create 22% (995) of the commercial jobs and health projects are expected to create 47% (2,082 jobs).

The majority of new permanent jobs expected to be created fall in census divisions 6 (1,998), 8 (867), 11 (2,026) and 12 (3,939). As in the proposed projects, the number of jobs expected to be created by petroleum and petrochemical investments in census division 12 is very substantial (3,605 or 40% of the total number of jobs).

62% of the total capital expenditure for jobs under construction can be attributed to petroleum and petrochemical investments. These projects account for 83% of the total capital expenditures in the industrial sector, with utility projects comprising 11%. Total capital expenditures in the commercial sector are highest for health related projects ($348 million) and office and rental space ($213 million).

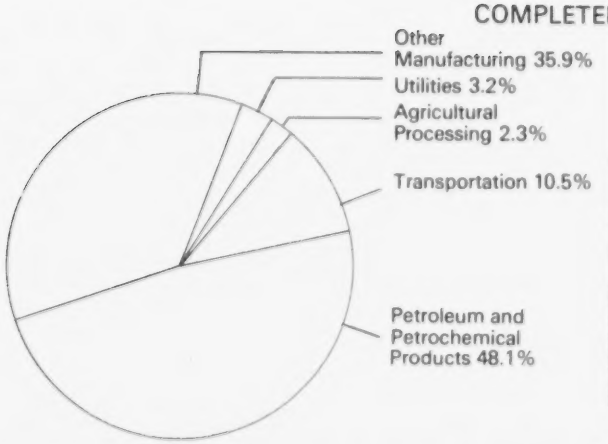
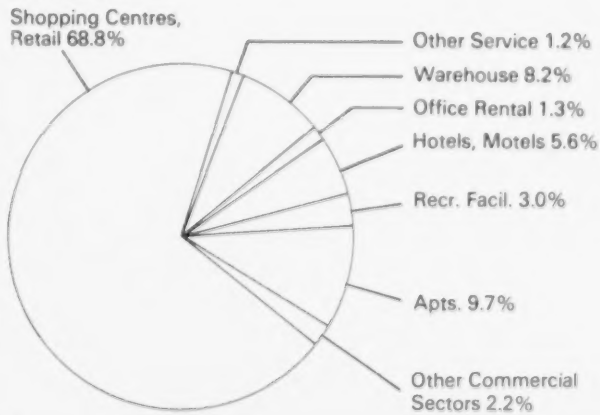
COMPLETED PROJECTS





COMPLETED PROJECTS

The total number of completed projects (158) is a slight increase since the last six month review. The increase is distributed evenly over both commercial and industrial projects. The total capital expenditure ($578.5 million) is a large increase in comparison to the increase in the number of completed projects. The disproportionate increase in the commercial sector accounts for this. It is interesting to note that although the total capital expenditure has decreased substantially for apartments, it has increased substantially for row housing.

The majority of completed projects are in census divisions 6 (40) and 11 (41). Apartments (10) and row housing (8) are the major projects completed in division 6, and apartments (7), row housing (5), education (5) and petroleum projects (5) in division 11. The total capital expenditures for completed projects are highest in census division 11 ($159.1 million). Transportation projects account for 41% of the expenditures in this division.

A total of 1,010 new permanent jobs are expected to be created. The major categories providing new jobs are shopping centres and retail (369 jobs), petroleum and petrochemicals (228) and manufacturing (170). Job creation is greatest in census division 12 with 500 jobs (49% of the total new permanent jobs to be created by completed projects).

TOTAL ACTIVITY IN ALBERTA

In many of the proposed projects, a disclosure of total capital costs as well as other details is not possible due to the sensitive nature of the information. The exclusion of this data and the desired confidentiality of some data make comparisons difficult and it should be stressed again that one must exercise caution when interpreting the results.

A compilation of statistics for both confidential and non-confidential data is included here to give some indication of the total activity in the province.
